

had committed seven murders, any one of which might have led to his own death at the hands of friends of the victim. O'Banion was a robber and hitman and in addition, had such an evil temper that no one theory of the motive for his murder was better than any other.

Why No Prosecution?

The jury asked why O'Banion had not been prosecuted for the shooting of David Miller and his brother Max Miller. The chief is said to have replied that the Miller wouldn't prosecute. A juror is said to have asked what difference that made, pointing out that if the Millers had been killed instead of wounded other witnesses would have been relied upon. The chief is then said to have remarked on his difficulties with the courts.

This jury, which is composed of four lawyers, a business man and a minister, most of them being "with both feet," those who believe prohibition is wrong assured their fellow jurors it had no difference.

One of the things the jurors contemplate doing is to call in every one of the thirty-five police captains or district commanders to question them about booze, gambling and vice conditions in their districts.

Want Judges' Names

It was said they want to know the names of every judge who attended the wake of Dean O'Banion, and if those judges are the ones who most frequently issue writs of habeas corpus for crooks.

They have the authority to investigate the booze and gun situation, Coroner Wolf pointed out, because of this provision of the statute.

"It shall be the duty of a coroner's jury to inquire how, in what manner, by whom or what the deceased body came to its death and all other facts and circumstances of and concerning the same, together with all material circumstances and evidence in any way related to or connected with said death."

Cicero to Be Investigated.

That gives them unlimited power, the coroner said, and he has power to put witnesses under bond, which he intends to use, if necessary, he said. This jury means business, he emphasized, and he does, too.

Cicero will come in for scrutiny; several of the jurors are said to be demanding it, and Coroner Wolf said he is with them in anything they want. Chief Collins' frequent statements that Cicero was the home of all the vice lords, gang kings, and gambling bosses, to which all murderers flocked for sanctuary, is said to have influenced the jury's decision.

Chief Collins had said that John Torrio, recognized as the supreme authority and master of all wrongdoers in Cook county and pointed nearby, ruled Cicero with an iron hand and that all his "faithful" were secure there. Chief Svoboda of Cicero challenged this statement yesterday, after doing a bit of "housecleaning."

"Chief Collins says a criminal crosses the line into Cicero and he is immune and protected," Svoboda remarked. "He's wrong. We always operated with any detective bureau squad that came here chasing or seeking a criminal. We have helped and we'll continue, any time, day or night."

"No More Gambling."

"We are interested in the welfare of our own people and we don't believe a small card game should get all the police attention. I'll admit there has been gambling here, but it is stopped. The places will stay closed."

"We haven't had a murder in Cicero in so long I can't remember, except the unfortunate killing of a man here after the police closed primary day. Chicago policemen killed him."

"We have no robberies here, no burglaries. There's not a prostitute in town. We are a village of home loving people and every one here is satisfied with the work of the police department."

"Chief Collins has plenty of dirt on his own back door. He can't keep Cicero

He accompanied a Tribune reporter to all the erstwhile gambling places, and as he said, they were closed.

HOFFMAN TO RAID

War on gunmen, beer runners, and vice traffickers, who are said to find refuge in the suburban towns, was declared last night by Sheriff Pate.

M. Hoffman, forty-two men, under the direction of Chief of Highway Police George Wiedling, were ordered to "clean up the county."

Spurred on by the promise of Mayor Klenba of Cicero that that city would be closed to criminals and vice lords, Sheriff Hoffman decided the time was ripe for a complete cleanup of the entire county.

He called his force before him, warned them against half hearted raids, and told them to bring in every town with a criminal record whom they encounter.

At the same time he warned them against arresting innocent and respectable citizens and said no officer would get by who sought to establish a record of arrests by picking up mere loungers.

The vice squads, which are to be equipped with automobiles and armed with shotguns, were selected from the sheriff's highway motorcycle police force, which heretofore has been used exclusively in the regulation of traffic and the protection of motorists from bandits.

"I want to warn motorists that the roads will not be protected," Sheriff Hoffman said. "I have taken more than half of the motorcycle police force, which heretofore has been used exclusively in the regulation of traffic and the protection of motorists from bandits."

Start at South End.

The raids will be concentrated on the south end of the county, all the territory south of Lake street being included. The north end of the county is clean, the sheriff said. Stickney is to receive particular attention, and if prostitution is practiced there under the direction of John Torrio, it must cease, the sheriff said.

Chief Wiedling will be aided by his three lieutenants, L. J. Laird, L. R. Davidson, and C. Wolf. Places now picketed, including the Cusack's place in Burr Oak and the Harlem Inn in Stickney, will continue to be picketed.

The towns of Blue Island and Harvey are to be visited, and the mayors there warned they must employ their police force to close houses of prostitution.

War on Prostitution.

"If they don't do it we will," the sheriff declared. "The campaign is against all branches of crime, but special attention must be paid to the traffic in women. There is no worse evil there have been four times as many prostitutes, who must grab them and bring them in."

"If you find gambling devices and houses, confiscate it and arrest the owners."

"There has been much criticism heaped upon the sheriff's office, but the records show that in last year there have been four times as many arrests made as were made in 1925 under my predecessor, and ten times as much collected in fines."

BANDITS TAKE $15,500 FROM A BANK MESSENGER

Leroy Brown, 1825 North Spaulding avenue, 17 year old messenger employed by the Keystone Trust and Savings bank, 2715 West North avenue, was held up and robbed by a bandit yesterday at St. Clair and Erie streets. Some $15,500 in cash and $14,000 in notes was the loot.

Brown had been sent from the bank to the Illinois Merchants' Trust company, 230 South Clark street, to transact some business. There he cashed a $1,500 check. He was instructed to take $200 of the money to the Caples Advertising company, 238 East Erie street. A statement by Mr. Sawyer said: She suffered a severe attack which almost proved fatal while she was mistress of the White House.

The fatal illness developed about three weeks ago, necessitating an operation two weeks ago to give her temporary relief from the severe pain which she was suffering. Since the operation her condition had varied from day to day, but a general giving away growing more apparent developed as the days wore on.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—The death of Mrs. Harding aroused a deep sense of personal sorrow in the national capital.

The highest dignitaries of the government, headed by President Coolidge joined in expressions of grief and regret, but quite another tribute of affection found voices among those she had befriended in the humble walks of life and those who had looked with admiration and pity on the tragic course of her brief tenure as mistress of the White House.

President and Mrs. Coolidge kept closely in touch with the progress of Mrs. Harding's last illness. Yesterday they sent her a message expressing hope for her recovery, and as soon as her death became known today the President addressed this telegram to George B. Christian Jr.:

MRS. HARDING TO LIE IN TOMB AT HUSBAND'S SIDE

Widow of President Dies
After Long Illness.

Marion, O., Nov. 21.—[By the Associated Press.]—A little stone tomb in Marion cemetery next Monday evening will be the scene of the final meeting to part no more of Mr. and Mrs. Warren G. Harding.

Mrs. Harding died early today at the home of Dr. C. W. Sawyer, son of the late Dr. C. E. Sawyer, President Harding's physician. She had been critically ill for several weeks at White Oaks farm, the Sawyer home, where she had been living. Next Monday her body will be placed in the tomb in Marion cemetery beside that of her husband.

The end came peacefully to the widow of the late President of the United States at 8:55 o'clock this morning while a brother and close friends stood by. She did not recognize them, however, as in early evening before she had lapsed into the death coma.

Fifteen Months of Sorrow.

Only fifteen months ago Mrs. Harding, leaning on the arm of George B. Christian Jr., private secretary to President Harding, followed the bier of her husband to the little tomb and saw it placed tenderly inside, there to await her coming. Rows of soldiers stood at attention as their commander in chief had been consigned to a temporary resting place in the tomb.

Next Monday afternoon that little handful of men will be drawn up with present arms by Lieut. Walter Lee Sherfy, while the body of Mrs. Harding is placed beside that of her husband.

The Rev. Jesse Swank, who conducted the funeral services for President Harding, will conduct similar rites for Mrs. Harding in the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church, of which he is the pastor and in which Mrs. Harding had membership since April, 1920, at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Assisting Mr. Swank will be the Rev. George M. Landis, pastor of Trinity Baptist church, of which Mr. Harding was a member.

Body at Home of Niece.

Following Mrs. Harding's death the body was taken to the home of Mrs. Frank J. Longshore, a niece, in East Church street, where it will remain until the funeral services.

Chronic nephritis, a form of kidney trouble, with myocarditis and hydro-nephritis as contributing factors, was the chief cause of Mrs. Harding's death, a statement by Dr. Sawyer said. She suffered a severe attack which almost proved fatal while she was mistress of the White House.

The fatal illness developed about three weeks ago, necessitating an operation two weeks ago to give her temporary relief from the severe pain which she was suffering. Since the operation her condition had varied from day to day, but a general giving away growing more apparent developed as the days wore on.

Mrs. Harding the Inspiring Genius of Husband's Career

Florence Kling Harding was born in Marion, O., Aug. 15, 1860, of sturdy Pennsylvania Dutch stock that settled in Ohio during the pioneer days early in the last century. She was the only daughter of Amos Kling, then the wealthiest man in Marion, a real estate owner, banker, and a promoter of several industries that were responsible for the growth of the town.

She attended the local grammar and high schools and afterward studied at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. From girlhood on she had a love of outdoor life, of horses and dogs. Her music she kept up until her marriage and the arduous days in the office of the Marion Star.

In her early 20s Mrs. Harding was married to Marshall Eugene De Wolfe, son of a well to do Marion family. It was not a happy marriage, and Mrs. Harding obtained a divorce.

Father Opposed Marriage.

Later she became engaged to Warren Harding, who, with his father, Dr. George T. Harding, had moved to Marion in 1884 from a northern county. This met with intense opposition from Dr. Harding, her father. Warren Harding had just bought the Marion Star for $300, and scarcely knew where his next pay roll was coming from.

Mr. Kling warned his daughter that if she married young Harding he would disown her. His support meant much to the success of the young publisher, who wrote his own reports and solicited his own advertisements.

Old Marion residents take great delight in relating what followed. Parental disapproval only served to hasten the wedding. Young Harding had just bought a small house on Mount Vernon avenue; a large front porch was added to it; later a presidential campaign was to be waged from it.

Wed to Editor in 1901.

Invitations were issued to the wedding, and on the night of July 5, 1901, the door was opened to the guests at 380 Mount Vernon avenue by a small boy in knickerbockers. He was George Harding, Jr., later secretary to the President. After her marriage Mrs. Harding left the Methodist church, which was her father's faith, and joined the Baptist church, attended by her husband.

Whereupon, as one Marion old timer said, Amos Kling fought his son-in-law "tooth and toenail" financially, socially, and, later, politically. There was a reconciliation fourteen years ago, and before he died Mr. Kling was as firm a friend as President Harding ever had.

Was Circulation Manager.

"She was a good business woman," President Harding once said, speaking of his wife's newspaper work. "When I took hold of the paper the circulation was managed by contract. She thought we were not getting enough revenue, so I cancelled the contract and put her in charge. The first month showed an increase of $200 in the circulation revenue, and until I went to Columbus to the legislature fourteen or fifteen years later and took her with me she was the circulation manager of the paper."

In the twenty years that Mr. Harding was in all his campaigns, beginning with his election as state senator in 1900, lieutenant governor of Ohio in 1904, his unsuccessful campaign for governor in 1910, against Judson Harmond, his election to the United States senate in 1914, and the 1920 presidential election.

Unostentatiously but unshrinkingly, Mrs. Harding was at her husband's side during virtually every speech he delivered in his presidential campaign. She was his inseparable companion upon every trip away from the White House. "Duchess" was his nickname for her, a name with which he usually addressed her.

Merely Moved Her Home.

It is an illuminating sidelight of Mrs. Harding's character that after her husband's inauguration she did not regard her position as that of the "first lady of the land" but rather as the "mistress of the White House." She was a housewife and partner of her husband, who had changed her residence from 380 Mount Vernon avenue, Marion, O., to 1600 Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, D. C. She had added social and official responsibilities that taxed her strength, but she retained her close supervision over all domestic details connected with the household.

When congressional framers of appropriation bills approached her shortly after inauguration and informed her of the usual custom of providing for refurnishing of the private apartments of the White House out of the public funds Mrs. Harding put her foot down on the project. Her husband, she said, had pledged government economy and that policy was going to be observed in the White House.

They Paid for Redecorating.

The downstairs rooms, the public rooms, must be maintained as a matter of public pride in its historical associations, but she announced that the private living rooms on the second floor would be refurnished out of the Harding pocketbook and not the public purse. And so they were.

When she entered the White House friends of Mrs. Harding feared she would not live through her husband's term as President. Physically, during the last few years of her life, she was an invalid, but she did not have the temperament of an invalid. She had been near death twice from attacks of the persistent ailment which caused her death, but she fought off intense pain with the same indomitable will and cheer spirit that contributed to her husband's success.

At the President's direction the flag at the White House will fly at half mast until after the funeral Monday. Mr. Coolidge also sent Capt. Adolphus Andrews, his naval aide, to Marion, and designated Secretaries Weeks and Work to represent him at the funeral.

IT WAS MRS. HARDING WHO KEPT HUSBAND IN RACE FOR PRESIDENT

An illustration of Mrs. Warren G. Harding's ambition for her husband came in the pre-convention campaign, spring of 1920. As the story goes, Senator Harding did not believe he had any real chance for the nomination for President.

When Ohio chose its delegates to the Chicago convention, Harding did not get all of them. Gen. Wood got some. That was not encouraging. So Harding wrote a letter withdrawing from the contest, in which he had entered half-heartedly and in which he was not regarded as a real factor.

Mrs. Harding learned of the letter of withdrawal the day before it was to be given out and went to a newspaper friend for help. She was made of persistent stuff and was determined to hold her husband in the race. With her friend, she sent out a dozen or two messages to senatorial and other friends of Mr. Harding among Republican leaders. In response a sheet of telegrams reached Harding the next morning, all begging him to stick in the race.

Under this heartening influence the senator reversed his intention, tore up his statement of withdrawal, and remained in the race, only to be victorious in Chicago in June.

Thus Mrs. Harding was given credit for holding her husband in the contest.

BRITISH SCRAP TREATIES WITH SOVIET RUSSIA

Refuse to Ratify MacDonald Pacts.

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
[Copyright, 1924, By The Chicago Tribune.]
LONDON, Nov. 21.—The Anglo-Russian scrap treaties are dead. The Baldwin government today definitely turned down the documents, which represent four months of work by the MacDonald government. In a brief note to M. Rakovsky, soviet chargé d'affaires in London.

"His majesty's government have had under review treaties negotiated by its predecessors with the government of Russia and signed on Aug. 8 last," the note said. "I have the honor to inform you that after due deliberation his majesty's government find themselves unable to recommend the treaties in question to the consideration of parliament or submit them to the king for his signature and then brushing it aside as an immaterial detail, the note says.

"The activities of which his majesty's government complain are not confined to one particular letter but, on the contrary, are extended to the whole body of revolutionary propaganda, of which the letter is a fair specimen, and which sometimes, as you rightly remark, are not concealed.

"The pronouncements of Mr. Zinoviev which have been broadcast throughout the world, are themselves sufficient evidence of propaganda in which the third internationale, with the knowledge and consent of the government, perpetually indulges, and it is this system which, in the view of his majesty's government, is inconsistent with the solemn undertakings given by your government.

Gives MacDonald's Words.

In his note of Oct. 24 Mr. Ramsay MacDonald observed:

"None who understands the competition and relationships of the communistic internationale doubt its intimate connection and contact with the soviet government."

"He further observed: 'No government would ever tolerate an arrangement with a foreign government by which the latter's internal diplomatic relations were of a correct kind with it, while at the same time a propaganda body, organically connected with that foreign government, encourages and even directs the subjects of the former to plot and plan revolutions for its overthrow.'

"This is true, and the soviet government would do well to weigh carefully the consequences of ignoring this pronouncement."

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—Taking their cue from the British election, the Zinoviev letter played an important part, German monarchists have faked a Herriot letter in order to hurt the three middle parties, according to reliable republican sources.

The three government parties are basing the present general election campaign on the success of their rule, especially in their dealings with England and France. Republican and liberal elements claim they were largely responsible for the fall of Premier Briand and when M. Herriot took office it was possible for the liberal German government to come to an understanding with the liberal French government, thereby bringing better relations between the German and French peoples.

Claim He Urged War.
The monarchists, realizing that the republican claims were correct and having little of popular appeal to the public except the discredited former kaiser, are accused of devising the Herriot letter to discredit the republican position.

The letter was alleged to have been addressed by Premier Herriot to the Italian, Belgian, and British prime ministers urging a new war for the suppression of Germany. The letter would have been published a day or two before the voting and so could not have been denied in time by M. Herriot had the plot not been exposed.

CHICAGO HUNTER BAGS BIG GAME

A. Edward Frear, 730 Oakwood boulevard, of O'Hara & Frear, real estate, 5303 Hyde Park boulevard, went hunting in British East Africa last July, returning early this month. The elephant here pictured was killed by Frear fifty miles east of Mount Kenya, Kenya Colony, British East Africa. Mr. Frear was a member of Battery C, 149th artillery.

$690,000 VAMP TELLS OF WINNING HER POTENTATE

Calm as She Relates Affair with Prince.

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

[Copyright, 1924, By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Nov. 21.—For more than five hours, in a courtroom packed by a thrill seeking crowd, Mrs. Florence Robinson, pretty little English siren, underwent a grilling cross-examination in the Robinson Midland bank case, halled here as the most sensational blackmail story in the history of the British court.

Under severe questioning by Sir John Simon, one of Great Britain's most celebrated legal masters, Mrs. Robinson revealed new features in the drama involving the love conquest of the "mysterious Mr. A." fabulously wealthy Indian potentate. It is now definitely stated that "Mr. A." is Sir Harry Singh, nephew and heir of the maharajah of Kashmir. Mr. A. gave a check for $150,000 ($690,000) to hush the scandal after he and Mrs. Robinson were discovered in a fashionable Paris hotel bedroom.

This sum is alleged to have been secured by a couple of Europe's most clever confidence men, and Charles Robinson, dapper gambler husband of Mrs. Robinson, is suing the bank for $125,000 ($575,000) of this sum which he says the bank diverted from him to the crooks.

Cool and Calm.

Mrs. Robinson, wearing a magnificent coat of Kolinsky fur and a splendid rope of pearls, never faltered in the long ordeal of Sir John's cross-examination, which yesterday broke the nerve of her husband, noted in the sporting world for his cold blooded gambling for staggering stakes. She was cool and calm, even when the delicate nature of five questions caused Sir John to write them and pass them to the witness, who wrote the answers.

After a discussion between the counsel and the judge these questions and answers were passed among the jurors, who included two women, both of whom blushed, embarrassed by the nature of the questions and replies.

Mrs. Robinson introduced a new character in the strange drama this afternoon. She told of staying at the Dieppe hotel as Mrs. Young with George Young, better known as Edward Kaiser, author of "The Secret of the Empress" and other books. Mr. Young's sister is alleged to be the illegitimate daughter of a late European emperor. Mrs. Robinson also mentioned a "great dose of fennel" as a friend.

Another Love Affair.

A minor love affair connected with the Robinson triangle was discussed when Mrs. Robinson told how her intimate friend, Mrs. Bevan with the potentate's native secretary occupied the bedroom adjoining that of Mrs. Robinson and Mr. A. in Paris.

She told of the dramatic entrance of Mr. Newton, her former lover and an alleged blackmail master, into her room in Paris when she was with Mr. A. She denied screaming, "Look out, here is my husband, my big brute of a husband," at that time. She also denied that she conspired to have Mr. Newton pose as her husband instead of Mr. Robinson, who "looked more like a butcher than the husband

PROHIBITION MADE BASIS OF BREWER PLEA FOR TAX CUT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Claims for tax reductions on account of losses sustained by prohibition are involved in cases filed with the board of tax appeals today by two Chicago companies, the Manhattan Brewing company and the Elmer company.

In both cases objection is made to the refusal of the commissioner of internal revenue to permit writing off of large amounts for obsolescence of equipment and losses of good will caused when prohibition became effective.

of the high society woman I was pretending to be."

Sir John's stuttest questioning failed to shake her story that she had not participated in any conspiracy to defraud the eastern prince.

Shortly after dawn a double line of men and women formed outside the door of the historic law courts building where the hearing is being held in the hope of getting one of the 200 spectators' seats. Those unable to get in for the morning session waited patiently four or five hours for the afternoon meeting. Scalpers auctioned places at the head of the line for as high as $5 ($21).

Extra police were needed to handle the crowds jamming the corridors outside of the courtroom and to watch American newspaper camera men, who smuggled cameras under their overcoats into the sacred confines of the building.

HISTORIANS AT FUNERAL PYRE OF BEER BARRELS

Many persons, perhaps future experts in historical research, were present yesterday at the city dump, 34th street and Kedzie avenue, when Chief Deputy United States Marshal Sam Howard applied the torch to 1,100 beer barrels on orders from Attorney General Stone.

It was the first time in the history of prohibition that confiscated cooperage has been destroyed in such large quantities. The bystanders read the labels Pabst, Schlitz, Schoenhofen, Fort Pitt, Standard, Blatz—names that once meant so much. Battle scarred they were, for in recent years barrel brands have gone unheeded by outlaw brewers.

Recognizing the ritualistic features of the pyre, Chief Howard caused the oaken and steel pyramid to be capped by the eight barrels which caused Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake to be sent to jail for a year.

RENO DIVORCES MADE SAFE BY JUDGE'S RULING

Denies Suit Charging Residence Fraud.

Reno, Nev., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—The district court here today refused to set aside the decree of divorce granted to Nathan A. Confer of Hamburg, Pa., from Emma E. Confer on grounds of alleged fraud built on Confer's departure from Reno soon after obtaining his decree.

When Mrs. Confer in a suit filed two weeks ago attacked the legality of Confer's Nevada residence she threw a bombshell into the existing Reno divorce colony and set hundreds who had obtained Nevada divorces to wondering if their decrees could be thrown out.

Judge Gets Lawyers' Aid.
When Mrs. Confer's counsel appeared before the court and asked for the usual order providing for service by publication of summons Judge George A. Bartlett refused to sign the order until he could obtain advice.

He called in three Reno divorce lawyers and asked them to defend the court. As a result, just before court closed today the judge handed down his decision denying Mrs. Confer's demand for the order.

This decision means, in the opinion of Reno attorneys, that the latest attack on Nevada's divorce law, which requires six months' residence, has come to nothing, and that those who have obtained their decrees need not worry over the validity, nor need those contemplating residence in Reno have any fear that a properly obtained decree of divorce has not the same force it always has had.

Argue Intent Rules Domicile.

The fraud charged by Mrs. Confer in her suit was based on the allegation that Confer had no bona fide domicile in the state, which in turn was grounded on the fact that he left Reno shortly after obtaining his decree and returned to his home in Pennsylvania. All three attorneys who acted as friends of the court argued that domicile is founded on intent and the decision of the court upholds that contention.

The attorneys argued that one may change his mind about domicile at any moment without doing anything fraudulent.

CONGRESS MAY WIELD QUICK AX ON TAX PUBLICITY

Democrats Likely to Come to Coolidge's Views.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—President Coolidge will declare himself squarely against publicity of tax information in his annual message to congress.

The President's position, it was stated today at the White House, is the same as when he signed the revenue act of 1924 last June. At that time the President severely criticized both the provision opening to public inspection the amounts paid by taxpayers and the requirements that hearings before the board of tax appeals be open to the public.

The President, in his coming message to congress, is expected to refer to the publicity section as an indefensible feature of the present law and urge its repeal.

Former Criticism Recalled.

"Our constitution guarantees to our citizens privacy in their private affairs, a right giving way only to the needs of government," said the President in his statement in signing the present tax law. "Under the law as it now exists the treasury has access to all information useful in determining the liability of the taxpayer. For the needs of revenue, publicity is unnecessary."

"While the bill purports not to give full publicity, it is scarcely true, and it still sacrifices without reason, the rights of the taxpayer. The amount which the citizen contributes to the treasury must be exhibited to the curious and to business rivals. Committees in congress have access to returns and other private papers, without any restriction as to their publication in open committee or on the floor of the congress, the most certain means of publicity."

"Will Reduce Revenue."
"If a taxpayer desires a hearing before the board of tax appeals he must expose to the public the complete details of his income. It is not alone in the unwarranted interference with the right of the citizen to privacy that these provisions are hurtful. It is believed that far from increasing revenue, the desire to avoid gratification of the idle curiosity of others or the exposure of one's personal affairs to one's competitor will result in the cor- rentment of millions of dollars of income which would otherwise be reported."

If conditions appear favorable the administration may urge the enactment of a separate bill repealing the publicity provision of the present law at the short session of congress. The declaration by Senator Harrison (Dem., Miss.), originally a supporter of tax publicity, that he now sees harmful effects in the proposition and will favor a repeal, has changed the situation somewhat. If any considerable number of Democrats follow the Harrison leadership there may be a chance of repealing the tax publicity provision during the winter.

Outlook in the House.

That Democratic leaders in the house will also join in the movement to repeal the publicity provision is believed. Representative Garner (Dem., Tex.), the ranking minority member of the house ways and means committee, joined the Republicans in knocking out in conference the Norris amendment to the senate bill for full publicity. Representative Hull (Dem., Tenn.), former chairman of the Democratic national committee, and one of the leading minority members of the ways and means committee, has been opposed to such publicity.

As matters now stand it is believed probable, therefore, that a bill repealing the tax publicity provision can be passed in the house at the short session and reported to the senate from the senate finance committee. Its fate will depend on what happens on the floor of the senate.

WARREN STONE SAYS BROTHERHOOD SEEKS TICKET SCALPER SCALP

New York, Nov. 21.—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers is about to tackle the theater ticket speculators of New York, according to a promise made by Warren S. Stone, president of the brotherhood, to the members of the Woman's forum.

In talking of the hospitality practiced toward depositors by the brotherhood banks, Mr. Stone said: "They will get your theater or railroad tickets for you without charge. They say nobody has ever been able to break up the ticket combine in New York. I like to tackle those things which cannot be done. I promise you now that we can put our service in right here in New York."

Referring to the present boom in the stock market, he said:

"We are going into the greatest stock boom the world has ever known. The stage is all set for it. There will be thirty or forty big foreign loans in the next year and a half. They are drawing up old stocks and bonds in new clothes and selling them. This is going to go on until they have got all the gold drained out of the country according to reports tonight in New Rochelle, where the Rhinelanders have been living."

Two persons who said they knew young Rhinelander by sight, asserted he left the home of the bride's parents, in New Rochelle, Thursday afternoon. These witnesses declared a limousine with liveried chauffeur appeared at the modest home of young George Jones at that hour. A man in a dark suit said to be in the employ of young Rhinelander's family, stepped out.

Draws Blinds; Drives Away.

The bridegroom met him at the door and the visitor helped him into the car. The curtains were drawn and the machine left in the direction of New York City. Neighbors said he had not been seen at the Jones home since.

According to these neighbors, who said they had talked to members of the Jones family, negotiations between the family and Philip Rhinelander, father of Leonard, are in progress. These negotiations have as their goal, according to these informants, a separation of the couple, to be followed later by annulment of the marriage on the ground that the bride, in applying for the marriage license, failed to comply with the requirements covering correct information to be supplied to the authorities.

The bride described herself as of white color, whereas her father in his naturalization papers some years ago gave his race as colored.

Conference Called Off.

A conference, it was said, was to have been held at the Jones home tonight, at which a representative of the elder Rhinelander was to have been a participant. This was called off, it was explained, when the representative telephoned that he had found it impossible to get to New Rochelle.

Mrs. Albert ("Footsy") Miller, sister of the bride, who lives next the Jones home was quoted as discussing negotiations with neighbors. It was Mrs. Miller who, before her marriage, introduced her sister to Rhinelander. This took place three years ago in Stamford, Conn.

"Alice may accept terms," she was quoted by neighbors as having told them "but they have got to be good. If the Rhinelanders want to get rid of us we'll go away, but it will have to be a heap of money."

WEIRD YARN OF RUM PIRACY TOLD BY SHIP'S MATE

But Rescuing Captain Is Not Convinced.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 21.—The British schooner Veronica was under command of a band of armed liquor pirates for three weeks before it was deserted and left drifting, it was reported here tonight when the craft was towed into port.

The master of the schooner and the two supercargo refused to talk, but the mate told a story of modern pirates, compared to whom, he said, oriental pirates of the China sea were "gentlemen."

Pirates Board Ship.

According to the mate, the Veronica was boarded on Oct. 24 off Montauk Point by fifteen men, who came ostensibly to purchase liquor, with which he said the schooner was loaded. When they were aboard they covered the Veronica's crew with pistols.

Taking complete charge of their prize, the pirates sold nearly all the liquor, while the officers were kept locked in the chain locker and the crew was forced to assist in disposing of the cargo.

Then, after crippling the engines of the Veronica, smashing its navigating instruments, the pirates went over the side, leaving their victims an aimless hulk.

Seen by Liner.

The mate said the Veronica drifted until fares and rockets were seen by the liner President Harding Wednesday night.

When the Veronica arrived here tonight it was reported that not a drop of water remained aboard, and that provisions were low. Champagne and whiskey had been used in the absence of water.

The crew said they had shipped on the Veronica four months ago in Bremen, ostensibly for a cruise to Mexico, Morocco. They said, however, that they had not seen land since the day of their sailing. They reported enormous hardships at the hands of the pirates.

ANOTHER VERSION OF IT

New York, Nov. 21.—Capt. Paul C. Grening of the United States liner President Harding docked his ship today convinced that he had been fooled by a weird sea yarn when the British auxiliary schooner Veronica held him for two hours in the North Atlantic last Wednesday night while her bearded master spun a tale of high seas piracy.

Capt. Grening related that at dusk Wednesday, on perceiving S. O. S. flares and rockets 100 miles off Cape Sable, he started off as if in flight. Puzzled, Capt. Grening ordered a pursuit and got within hailing distance.

Chief Officer Wilkinson put off in a small boat and went to the schooner, whereupon the Veronica's master said his vessel had been boarded two days before by hi-jackers. The Veronica's crew was herded into the forecastle and the ship looted of its liquor cargo. Then the pirates made off with instruments of navigation, leaving the Veronica helpless.

Asked Tow to Port.

The Veronica's skipper asked for a tow into port, but Capt. Grening explained he could not comply, as the President Harding carried mail. Then the Veronica's master asked that the Harding radio a message to the schooner's owner, whose name he said was F. M. Warren of Halifax. Capt. Grening agreed and the Veronica took some navigation instruments, having refused water and provisions.

Capt. Grening was told that Halifax news dispatches had quoted F. M. Warren as saying he had nothing to do with the Veronica.

WARSHIP TARGET LISTS SLIGHTLY; IS STILL AFLOAT

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Showing a list of less than 15 degrees after being subjected to shell fire for times in two days, the uncompleted battleship USS Texas is still afloat off the Virginia capes.

The battleship Texas opened fire on the craft twice today, repeating the performance of the day previous. Fourteen inch shells were hurled at the helpless vessel in rapid succession during one hour and some seconds of bombardment this morning and again in the afternoon. Particles of armor were torn from her sides and hurled

UNCLE SAM TOO EASY ON EUROPE, LATEST PLAINT

League May Call Parley to Iron Out Debts.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] GENEVA, Nov. 21.—The league of nations is watching the uneasiness of the United States and Great Britain over war debts, and may soon broach proposals for an international conference of creditor and debtor states at Geneva.

Various financial, economic, and commercial problems which the world faces would be included in the agenda of such a meeting, but the keynote of the entire question admittedly lies in war debts, and the crux of these is what three nations—Great Britain, France, and Italy—want for America.

It is realized that the Washington administration probably will decline to be represented officially, which would bar a direct discussion of Europe's obligations to America.

However, if an unofficial American observer is present the various solutions could be submitted through him to Washington.

Blame Easy Going Uncle Sam.

Both American and European persons here blame the United States for permitting the debt settlements to drift along for the last six years without any conclusion. It is pointed out that the Washington administration has continually insisted that the United States is in no hurry and assured the debtor countries they might take their time in funding their debts.

Whenever any one of any newspapers summoned Europe to settle its debt, the state department issued a communique stating that was not the administration's viewpoint and insisting the matter was not pressing.

When various American officials of the government and big bankers visited Europe they assured the leaders here they need not worry over their debts.

Great Britain is dissatisfied with this attitude, as when Stanley Baldwin funded the British debt to Washington, Downing street believed the other states would immediately follow suit and then proceed to arrange the payment of their obligations to England.

Through permitting delays in repayments to America, Washington has unwittingly postponed Great Britain's recovering its outstanding debt.

France Now Favors Conference.

The French would not now oppose a league conference on debts because, with the Dawes plan operating, the league would not interfere with reparations from Germany. It was through fear that the Geneva organization would lump reparations with war debts that France previously opposed former tentative proposals that the league take up the question.

The greatest anxiety prevails in the secretariat as to whether the league disarmament conference actually is torpedoed by the British government's refusal to discuss the matter at the Rome council meeting or whether the parley may be saved for the league.

Nobody is discernible to champion the league cause now. It is doubtful whether Premier Herriot is anxious to espouse its affairs since the loss of his friend, Ramsay MacDonald, and the bitter attacks of the French press over the guarantee pact.

Will Coolidge Act?

It is generally admitted that if President Coolidge still desires to hold a disarmament parley in Washington the situation is within his power, as he can seize it from the league by merely issuing invitations. Powers like France, who might dislike the idea of discussing land armaments at Washington without the possibility of obtaining security guarantees, nevertheless are mindful that concessions on their part toward a reduction of military expenses might lead to ameliorating the conditions for repaying the American debt.

The little sentence also is hesitant over entrusting the size of its armies to the American conceptions.

RED-YANK TRUST

It is reported that the soviets have leased the manganese fields of Georgia to an American syndicate for twenty years. The Americans are to buy rails and improve the property, and hope to sell half a million tons of ore per year. Georgian rebels are doing all in their power to cripple the export of manganese, which is one of the main props of the soviet régime. Manganese is a rare metal much in demand for making modern steel alloys.

VANITY CASE 7,000 YEARS OLD FOR FIELD MUSEUM

Scientists at the Field museum hope to write the history of the Sumerian race, which is believed to have established the earliest civilized empire of importance in the world. Relics 7,000 years old were received at the institution yesterday from the Oxford Field museum expedition excavating the ruins of Kish which are to be used in reconstructing the history.

In the tombs of women were found a cone shaped silver vanity case mounted in silver and bronze, containing a small knife and two copper pencils, evidently used for manicuring the nails. A rouge box of carnelian shells filled with black and red pigment for the eyebrows and lips was found nearby.

The shipment totaled 1,400 objects, which included jewelry, articles of precious metals, pottery of types heretofore unknown, statuettes, inlays, surgical instruments, engravings, and tablets.

GEDDES HEADS ENGLISH INQUIRY INTO H. C. OF L.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Sir Auckland Geddes, former British ambassador to Washington, has accepted an appointment as chairman of a royal commission to investigate the high cost of living. Another member will be Mrs. Winifredham, former Liberal member of parliament. The City of London corporation took an unusual step yesterday, ordering the superintendent of the Smithfield market, which is London's principal wholesale meat market, and run by the corporation, to draw up weekly and exhibit in the market a list of fair retail prices for various varieties of meat. This will give the public a guide as to whether they are being fleeced by the butchers.

It is understood that the Harrimans gave the soviet a royalty of £39,220 for the first three years and £13,830 thereafter, but this information is incomplete.

American Is Agent.

The Harrimans appointed Richard Shelling, secretary of the Ionia bank at Constantinople, its representative in Russia, and he left his previous job on two days' notice. He is an American, born at Rio de Janeiro of naturalized German parents, and was educated at Yale and Oxford.

It is believed the Harrimans interests agree to sell 500,000 tons annually, although the present sales are 250,000 tons or less.

HARRIMAN GETS RED MANGANESE TRUST BY DEAL

Soviets to Get Improved Mines Back in 1944.

BY RAYMOND FENDRICK.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 21.—Messrs. Speed and Elliott, representing various Harriman interests in New York, who entered the Caucasus early in July, inspected fourteen of the principal manganese mines about 118 miles northeast of Poti. They were accompanied by an American mining engineer.

They decided first to negotiate a concession with Georgia and later with the Moscow government before making any agreement with the syndicate owners called the "Chimo" which was organized during the war. Nine mines were owned by French, British and Belgians and the others by the soviets.

The Jordanian Menshevik government in 1920 had taken 20 per cent of the revenue of the syndicate, and the bolsheviks later took 35 and still later 47 1/2 per cent, but they never nationalized or organized the mines.

A Munich firm served as the selling agent for the syndicate for the past three years, but its contract expired on Sept. 1.

Deal with Soviets.

The advantage of making arrangements with the soviets was that they controlled the export licenses and the chimo could only export to those to whom the soviets gave a selling agency.

The Georgian soviet gave Mr. Harriman an exclusive concession for twenty years to distribute Georgian manganese. Mr. Harriman agreed to sell for the same price in every country and also to construct modern loading and unloading machinery at the mines and the port of Poti and to build a certain amount of railway. Now a part of the railway is narrow gauge, and manganese must be handled nine times. After twenty years all construction reverts to the soviet.

It is understood that the Harrimans gave the soviet a royalty of £39,220 for the first three years and £13,830 thereafter, but this information is incomplete.

American Is Agent.

The Harrimans appointed Richard Shelling, secretary of the Ionia bank at Constantinople, its representative in Russia, and he left his previous job on two days' notice. He is an American, born at Rio de Janeiro of naturalized German parents, and was educated at Yale and Oxford.

It is believed the Harrimans interests agree to sell 500,000 tons annually, although the present sales are 250,000 tons or less.

MAYOR INSISTS SUBWAY AWAIT TRACTION PEACE

Attacks an Immediate Start as "Folly."

because of the phrase "present value." If they will agree to appraise the properties by the rules of the United States Supreme court we will consider the proposal.

Mr. Blair suggested a perpetual franchise, or one for thirty or forty years. That is utter folly. One newspaper has suggested that a subway be built anywhere, so long as one is built. That is perfect folly.

Total Cost Is $400,000,000.

Mr. Dever intimated that he would like to say still more, but said that with negotiations pending it was inadvisable to go into details. He did say that the real solution of transportation was the unification of the surface and elevated lines, construction of extensions, and the buildings of subways.

If that cannot be accomplished—the cost of which he estimated at $400,000,000—he said that it would be up to the city to build a subway and way without first knowing how it will be used, what company will operate it, and upon what terms.

This invites Mr. Insull, who has argued that the city build and own the subway, to ask the city to fix the route of the bore, start its construction, and name the terms on which it will be leased to the elevated. Insull has twice said publicly to city officials that the elevated lines desire to lease and operate the subway, when built. He has asserted that a limited subway through the downtown district would double the capacity of the rapid transit lines.

Opportunity for Insull.

He left himself wide open for puncture on subway, however. He said that it was unbusinesslike as anything could be for the city to build a subway without first knowing how it will be used, what company will operate it, and upon what terms.

GO, CHICAGO, GO! SLOGAN FOR NEW WATERWAY DRIVE

Fatal Blow to Industry Is Seen for Laggards.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Linking the great industrial possibilities of the Tennessee valley and Muscle Shoals with the development of the Ohio river navigation program, fifty Illinois manufacturers and capitalists came to Evansville today to compare notes with the members of the Mississippi Valley association, now in session.

One clear impression gained was that Illinois had better hurry in its waterway projects to connect Chicago with the Mississippi if it is to keep in line with the stirring south and the Pittsburgh to Cairo route, which will hook up the industries in Pennsylvania to the great central valley and the south.

Delay May Be Fatal. As it stands today, according to Robert Isham Randolph, Chicago engineer and waterways expert, Chicago is likely to be cut off from these developments unless more speed is shown.

This ancient river town has taken some of the invigorating boom oxygen into its lungs, and sees a revival of the old river traffic days.

In fact, the frontier of industry seems to be moving south, with waterways and water power as the keys to the golden future. The Muscle Shoals locks, now under construction and planned, will open the Tennessee to navigation again, even if little else in the way of direct benefit is experienced immediately by that hopeful region.

Two coterminous, to hold the level of the river at all times of the year, were inspected today by the joint organization, the Illinois Manufacturers and the M. V. A.

Hide Steamer in Fog.

The waterways association arranged to hold its sessions on the S. S. Altos as the steamer rode down the river in the fog to afford the visitors a close view of the big contract. The businessmen talked of a new cooperation between rail and water carriers. Steel is now being shipped from Pittsburgh here, and when the system of dams is completed the route will be open all up and down the river.

The Ohio development has been going on for twenty years and has cost $40,000,000. There are fifty dams in the scheme. Seven locks and dams are now being built. Within another year a substantial part of the work will be completed.

Object of U. S. Industry. Briefly, Edgar Jadwin told the association today the chief work of the association at the next session of congress will be to build sentiment and get votes for R. B. 214 and H. R. 9729, bills which provide for the appropriation of sufficient funds, in a lump sum, to meet the cost of completing the nation's river and harbor projects approved by the army engineers and adopted by congress.

The first bill provides for $204,000,000 to be taken from current federal revenues, the work to be completed within a period of five years.

The second bill provides for the issue and sale of government bonds to the amount of $204,000,000, redeemable after ten years from the date of their issue and payable within a period of thirty years.

WHY TO DEFEND SELF TODAY AS THIEF CATCHER

Will Deny He Shared in Rondout Holdup.

BY DONALD EWING.

William J. Fahy will take the witness stand today in Federal Judge Coffey's court to tell the jury that in the Rondout (Ill.) mail robbery he still was the master detective, seeking to add luster to his already brilliant career, and not the master criminal pictured by the prosecution.

The former postal inspector will be followed on the stand by his two co-defendants in the $2,000,000 holdup trial. They are Jimmy Murray and Walter McCormick. The decision to put all three on the stand became known as the government finished its case at 12:10 p. m. yesterday.

Robert Milroy, counsel for Fahy, has said right along that his client would testify, but few believed that Ben Short would send Murray before the government counsel for cross-examination. Col. John Y. Cline, who has remained silent through most of the trial, was satisfied last night that McCormick will clear himself.

Jury to Get Case Monday.
Present plans are for the case to be in the hands of the jury Monday night. The defense expects to finish its case by tonight with Monday morning for rebuttal and sur-rebuttal and Monday afternoon for argument.

While the defense has been a bit chary of letting its plans become known, it is understood Fahy will picture himself as working hard to capture the six who have pleaded guilty to looting Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul train No. 57 of $2,000,000 the night of June 15, about thirty-five miles northwest of Chicago. He is expected to tell of his rise from postal clerk to inspector, of his solving of many big mysteries through getting "in" with the crooks—and of getting "in" with the Rondout gangsters simply with the intention of catching them.

Against that version, however, the government yesterday worked up its case with more the "inside" of the indictment of Fahy and of his work in connection with the case.

Set Trap for Fahy.
Charles Clarrahan, chief postal inspector in New York, was the main witness of the day. He told how, when Fahy became a suspect, a fake telegram was sent so that it would fall into Fahy's hands. This telegram read:

"Undercover men will join you tomorrow. Leave on Broadway limited."

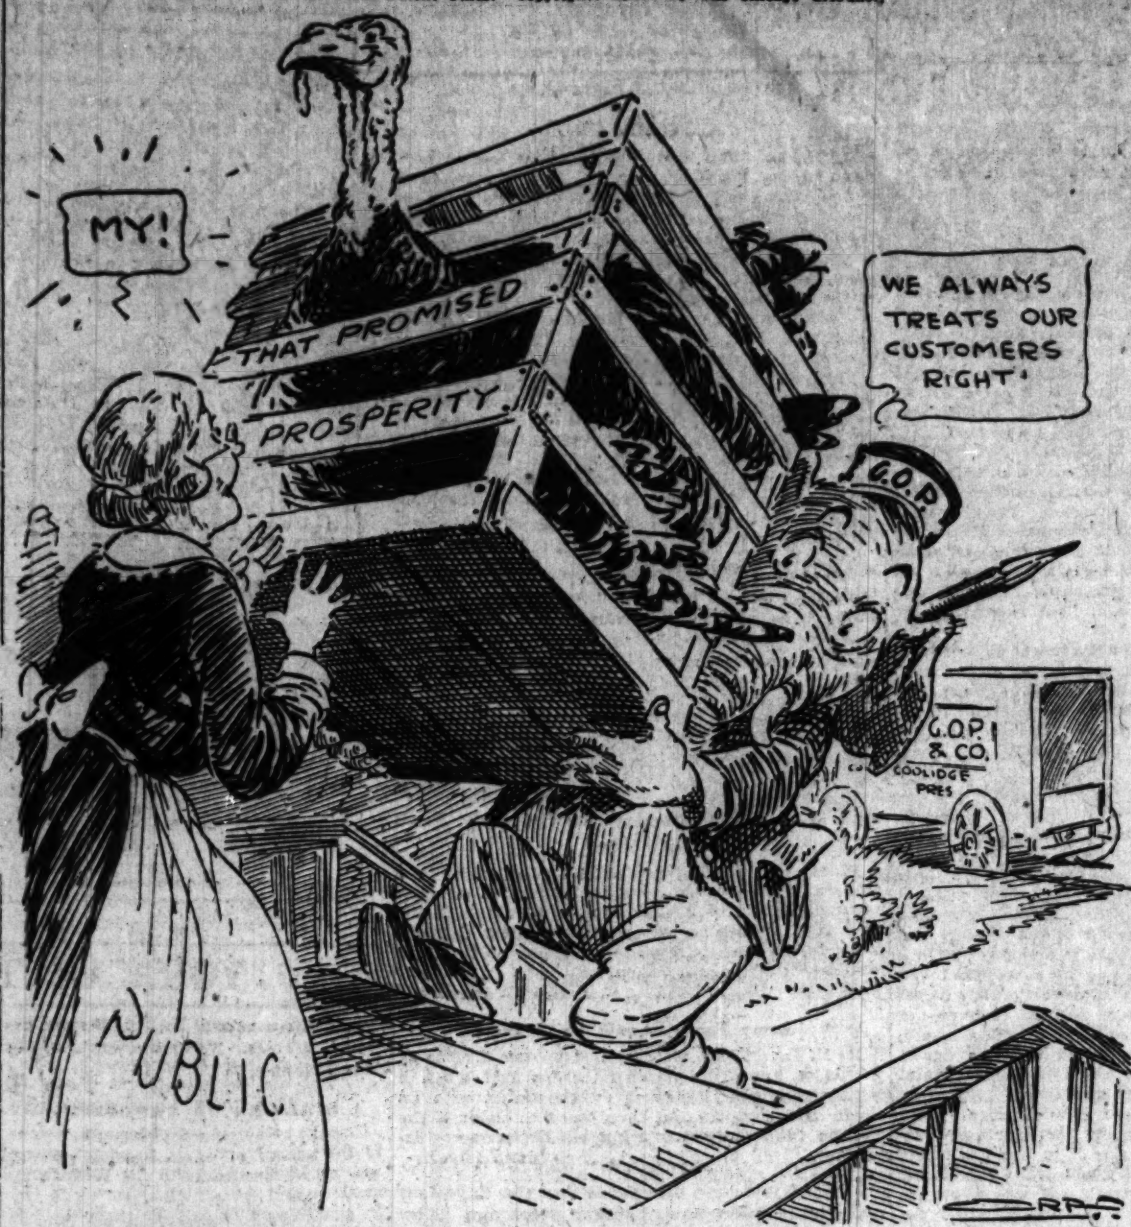

Tapped telephone wires revealed that Fahy immediately telephoned the contents to Murray at Staley's saloon. When questioned, Clarrahan said, Fahy finally admitted that he had telephoned the message to Murray.

"Fahy said the other inspectors from the room and then told me he had done this in the hope that Murray would try to move the lot and that he, Fahy, could trail him and recover it and get the credit that would come from such work. But he never followed Murray and he never assigned any one to follow him."

K. P. Aldrich, another inspector, testified that when he insisted to Fahy that Brent Glascock, now the confessed leader of the band, must have been in the robbery, Fahy said: "Why chase around after him? What the hell can you hold him on if you do find him?"

DANCE OF ORIENT BRINGS ARREST OF 78 BUFFALOES

Reformat and Cops Raid Wild Party.

Two hundred enthusiastic members of the Fraternal Order of Buffalo were busy cheering several uncolored oriental dancers in Conway hall, Lake street and Western avenue, last night when the Rev. Philip Yarrow, Capt. John Stege, and a squad of detectives broke down the doors.

For several minutes the proceedings went on merrily. The spectators were deeply interested in the contortions of a young woman who wore only a red mask. Her gyrations held every eye. Then it was whispered about that the law had arrived and pandemonium broke loose.

The detectives corralled seventy-eight of the Buffalo and three dancers. The girls gave their names as Jean La Riere, 2347 Michigan avenue; Alice Morgan, 2314 Monroe street; and Betty Boynton, St. Regis hotel. It was Miss La Riere who wore the red mask during her dancing. Misses Morgan and Boynton had different acts. They did not wear masks.

Emil Badke, 1311 West 14th place, was among the seventy-eight Buffalo who were arrested. He is secretary of the fraternity.

After several hours of arguments pro and con, Judge Frank Padden of the Municipal court yesterday refused to issue a warrant for the arrest of Aid. Joseph Mendel (26th), who is said to have been the master of ceremonies at a stag held Oct. 30 in Bohemian hall.

The warrant was sought by Assistant Prosecutor Frank Peska, who appeared before Judge Padden early in the morning with an arm load of law books and a sheaf of depositions.

"I'm sorry, but I cannot issue a warrant on this evidence," the judge said at the end of the court day. "Bring me some witnesses to the affair and I'll give you a warrant."

Mr. Peska asserted that it would be difficult to get men who had seen the immoral stag to testify in court. They would be subdued by gunmen, he said.

It was customary to obtain warrants without the introduction of direct evidence, Mr. Peska stated. But the judge refused to issue the warrants. The judge said such was not the law.

The party in question was attended by 1,500 persons. It was staged ostensibly in behalf of Dennis J. Egan, then Democratic candidate for reelection as bailiff of the Municipal court. Mr. Egan did not attend.

Dr. Yarrow informed newspaper men that he would ask the directors of the Illinois Vigilance association, of which he is the head, to ask that Aid. Mendel be ousted from the council.

DEVINE SEES SIX MONTHS' DELAY AS SMALL'S AIM

Seek Motive in Hiring
Dailey as Counsel.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Gov. Len Small's retention of State Senator John Dailey as one of his attorneys, it was suggested yesterday, may have been for the purpose of obtaining a six months' continuance of the state suit that seeks to compel the governor to account for interest paid on public funds while he was state treasurer.

The suggestion was made following the publication of an Associated Press dispatch from Springfield containing a charge that the defense hopes to have its lawyers "talk for a month" in order to forestall a judicial ruling before Gov. Small is reinaugurated.

Point Made by Devine.
This conjecture caused considerable discussion among lawyers and several of them, including State Representative John P. Devine, minority leader of the lower house, made the point that if the decision of Judge Burton is delayed until after inauguration day the legislature will be in session and a mere affidavit stating that Senator Dailey is in attendance at the assembly will be sufficient to compel Judge Burton to recess the case until summer.

Cites the Law.
Representative Devine cited section 66 of chapter 110 of the revised statutes—a part of the practice act—which provides that any trial, civil or criminal, may be postponed on filing of an affidavit, until the end of the legislative session, if a member of the legislature is counsel or attorney for either side of the case; this in order that his

COOLIDGE TO TAKE NO PART IN CHOICE OF LEADERS IN CONGRESS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—President Coolidge made it known today that he intends to take no part in the organization of either the house or senate, believing it the right of members to choose their own leaders.

Mr. Coolidge at the same time is confident that a choice of leaders made in congress will be acceptable to him.

The statute makes an exception of suits in which a member of the assembly is retained after the opening of the session, but Senator Dailey is a part of the Small legal forces now, several weeks before the opening of the session.

Attorneys also have discussed the ethics of Senator Dailey's appearing in these proceedings. The suit is brought by the state and, as he is an officer or agent of the state, he is accepting employment considered adverse to the interests of his principal, the state.

WIDENING OF LINCOLN AVE. UP TO COUNCIL

Ordinances providing for the widening of Lincoln avenue from Western avenue to the city limits at an approximate cost of $1,000,000 were approved yesterday by the board of local improvements and will be submitted to the city council at its next meeting.

Present plans, as explained to a group of affected property owners by John J. Sloan, president of the improvement board, contemplate the taking of seventeen feet from east of the roadway between Western avenue and California avenue and thirty-four feet from the east side of the street from California avenue to the city limits.

When completed, the new broad roadway will furnish a direct route from Lincoln park to the Rand road, the River road, the Northwest highway, the Higgins road and other north-west state and county roads.

COOLIDGES ASKED TO COMMERCIAL CLUB LUNCHEON

Tentative plans for the entertainment of President Coolidge while a guest here on Dec. 4 of the International Live Stock exposition became known yesterday. The presidential special is expected in Chicago shortly before noon.

President and Mrs. Coolidge will drive directly to the Drake hotel, where they will be the guests at luncheon of the Commercial club. At 2 p. m. the President will leave for the stock yards, where, it is expected, he will make an extensive inspection of the exhibits. Later he will be guest of honor of the live stock men at a dinner at the Stockyards inn.

Further activities of the chief executive before his train finally departs are not yet announced.

Reception for Mrs. Coolidge.
Mrs. Coolidge is not expected to accompany the President's party to the stockyards. It is considered probable that she will be a guest at an afternoon reception at the Drake and later a dinner, but definite announcement will be deferred until her wishes are learned.

The official schedule covering the visit of the President, his first to Chicago since taking office, will not be announced for perhaps a week, it was said yesterday.

Await Word from Washington.
Tentative plans have been submitted to Washington, but the President has not yet approved them, it is understood. John Clay, president of the stock show, is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

The exposition celebrates its silver anniversary this year. The opening feature, on Nov. 29, will be the students' judging contest, in which two teams from Canada are expected to star. The Pullman company has offered five scholarships, valued at $250 each, to winning teams. The show closes on Dec. 6.

A TRACTION POLICY OF "NO."

Samuel Insull has told the mayor and aldermen that the city can have rapid transit if it will take it. He says he is entirely able to raise the money for his part of it and it will be the city's duty to pay the city the city could be on its way.

Politics has acquired merit for years by obstruction. The man who keeps a thing from being done has been successful politically. Probably the worst thing Charles Yerkes could have done any city was to fix it in this attitude. Yerkes did it for Chicago. He gave us our public policy of keeping things from being done because we would not stand for what he wanted to do and made that a code of civic morality.

The one thing which broke down this rule was the traction rehabilitation provided in the 1907 ordinance. Those ordinances work. Everything else has been defeated but they work, and from them the city dated its paved streets and a general trend up. Surface car service has its limitations and these limitations are restrictive to the city's welfare, development, but within them the Chicago surface lines are probably the best in the country. They do well just about everything that surface lines can do. The elevated lines do about everything they can do. They could be extended and improved, but the city policy is against improvement.

Transportation is functioning with its present equipment about as well as it can. It is inefficient because it lacks the metropolitan necessity of a subway. It is agreed that the subway shall be municipally constructed and owned. It is agreed that it or any other branch of transportation should be municipally operated. There are M. O. subscribers who want ownership and operation but there are other people who are not stultified by so much punishment from political administration. We do not know anything else that it works well and why should it change its nature and work well in street cars?

The city would have a big job if it undertook to build a subway. It would have its hands full if it did that well and its activity would be increasing the facilities of the city. Up to date it has balked at its opportunities and it maintains its policy that obstruction is a virtue.

KEEP LIGHT OPERA OUT OF OUR ARMY.

A Washington dispatch says that the war department plans to organize a complete woman army in the next war. This is bad news for the fighting men.

In the last war there were unofficial armies of women, Red Cross workers, welfare workers; heaven knows what. They added immeasurably to the social life of Washington, Paris, and the larger headquarters.

Because of their bright eyes many strong men were kept busy shining boots for staff officers who should have been shining bayonets for boches. There was too much play at the rear in the last war. If they increase it in the next by an organized army of society belles the fighting man won't have a cracker to eat or a cartridge to shoot.

SOUTH SIDE TERMINAL AGREEMENT.

The town has been waiting patiently for some time for word of the negotiations among the railroad companies involved in the terminal plans which are to open up the south wall of the loop, add to the south bound streets, give a new office district, etc. etc. Recently there have been reports that these roads may give up their idea of a new terminal at Polk or Harrison, and join with the Illinois Central on the lake front, but the reports are not verified. What is the situation? We hope it does not mean indefinite delay.

It should not and it will not mean delay, if the railroad managers and directors are aware of their responsibilities. Public opinion has become more friendly to railroads in the last few years, but the gain will be canceled by a policy of giving as little, instead of as much, as conditions permit. The public is conscious that these conditions are more favorable than they have been, that railroad earnings are good, credit improved, capital plentiful. This it would seem, is a time at which improvements could be fairly demanded and safely put through, and it is our opinion that the present terminals of the roads involved in the project under consideration are not a credit to their owners' sense of public duty, their civic spirit, or their sense of what is wise in public relations. Their depots belong to a period long past, to a fourth rate city.

It is high time these corporations realized that Chicago is a great city, the greatest railroad center in the world, the keystone of its prosperity. We have had every disposition to be fair and patient, but there is an end of patience and it is in sight. Chicago has been unfairly treated and that neglect must and now, not in the next generation.

We hope for a report that a project has been agreed upon and will be carried forward without more delay. If that report is not soon forthcoming, we hope that Mr. Sprague and his terminal committee will proceed to action. The city has power to open up streets, to straighten the river, and make whatever improvements the authorities and necessary for our better circulation. If the railroads will cooperate, so much the better. But if they will not, we are sure the public will stand behind the city government, even if its measures involve public inconvenience or loss for the sake of progress.

UNCLE SAM IN HICKORY PANTS.

It is authoritatively announced in Washington that President Coolidge does not intend to call another arms conference and that if there is a call it must come from some other nation. It is a relief to hear that. We distrust our fellow countrymen in conference. They usually want nothing for themselves and generally get it.

When this nation calls an altruistic conference the administration feels that politics requires that the negotiations come to agreements. The Europeans when they have a conference are perfectly willing that it should bust up if they cannot have their own way. America prefers to make national sacrifices to get results, whether the results are good for it or not. An administration does not care to give its political opposition the opportunity to say that it tried an altruistic thing and fell down on its face.

We feel that Americans go into conference with too many open pores. It is time to hunt around for an adequate supply of barrels as soon as American representatives meet Europeans and Asiatics in quest of a formula of brotherly love. Generally the barrels are needed to get our representatives decently home. We have had an agent in Europe for a couple of years trying to get the $250,000,000 Germany paid for the upkeep of our army on the Rhine and which the United States lost to France, Great Britain, and Belgium in a conference over the divvy of it. That is a small matter, but it proves how easy it is to send us home in hickory pants.

We are alarmed enough. We are alarmed too much. What we need to see is the other fellow's output of plowshares.

HOW IMMUNE?

"Eddie the Immune," able pickpocket, has been found guilty by a jury of lifting a pocketbook and has been sentenced to a term of from one to ten years at Joliet.

The question is: will he ever get as far as Joliet and, if he does, how long will he be kept out of his special field of usefulness? It will be interesting to watch the process of justice, as the saying is, in this case.

IMMORALITY WHICH BREDS CRIME.

Assistant State's Attorney Peska says that a disgraceful and indecent performance was given by nude women at a Democratic campaign rally under the direction of Ald. Joseph Mendel at the Twenty-sixth ward and that 1,500 men and youths were present. That charge demands a complete inquiry and it is sustained as true and responsibility fixed, the punishment should be to the limit.

Organizations of men will occasionally degrade themselves in such debauchery and it would be salutary if the police could pack them all into the wagons and into cells. Mr. Peska's charge relates to a public gathering in which there probably was the usual percentage of half wits, weaklings and degenerates. Aside from the outrage against public decency such an exhibition, if given, might have started degenerates forth on such crimes as terrorism and rape.

It is hard to imagine a more serious offense against the community or one which it should resent more keenly. It is throwing fire in oil.

BEAUTY AND UTILITY.

The new Strass Bank building, at South Michigan and Jackson, will repay a visit. The main bank room is said by critics to be one of the finest rooms of its kind in the country. Of striking beauty and dignity, it is a real addition to the artistic resources of the city and an example of what can be done to make the modern place of business something finer than a mere place of utility.

This tendency to rear buildings which are primarily for practical service yet beautiful in design and decoration is vitalizing American architecture. The American people are sensitive to beauty, but their genius is eminently practical and when art allies itself to business it is not cheapening itself but entering the powerful current of our energy to the profit of both beauty and utility. The real contributions of American architecture to the world's culture are going to be made, we think, in the main stream of American life, not on some remote margin of academic beauty. Great business blocks, railway stations, bridges, even factories, are becoming works of art, as well as colleges, hospitals, libraries, theaters, and public edifices. New York already possesses some of the triumphs of modern architecture, and it is encouraging to note that the inspiration is not lost in Chicago.

We congratulate the Messrs. Straus on their fine contribution to the city's beauty, so creditable to their own taste and public spirit. The banking room especially referred to was the work of Mr. Charles Duffy, engineer of the Straus company, and the building as a whole was designed by Graham, Anderson, Probst & White.

The Other Side

[Battle Creek Enquirer and Evening News.] Chicago's ceremony over the funeral of a murdered gunman whose murder is supposed to be a return of favors given—Chicago's "to-do" over this thing is an exhibition of savagery and morbidity that gives the reader sorrow if it does not give him digestive pain.

The incident recalls some of the criticism aimed at Herrin, Ill., where murder received a local glorification. The difference between Herrin and Chicago, in the matter of favorable attention to murder, seems to be that Herrin does have rough and plain, with no appeal to the dramatic sense, while Chicago puts a "movie" atmosphere around hers.

If Herrin was called upon to change her standard of morals and while the main rail goes out to Chicago, when the second largest city in the country makes a hero out of a gunman and an heroic occasion out of the funeral which follows his assassination it is time to question the tendency of civilization and to make apologies to Africa for previous opinions of African standards of conduct and of intelligence.

The vast majority of Chicago people are intelligent, are moral, and are in favor of the law. They should be heard from more. The savage, sneering minority should be heard from less, and then only by the reports of friends who visit them in the penitentiary or the cemetery.

How to Keep Well.
By Dr. W. A. Evans.

(Registered U. S. Patent Office.)

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Every space left not permitted, or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered, subject to space limitations. No stamped, addressed envelope is needed. Dr. Evans will not make a diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases. Requests for such service cannot be answered.

A SMALLPOX WARNING.
At the October, 1924, meeting of the American Public Health Association Dr. Matthias Nicolai Jr. read a letter from Dr. Elchei, who is in charge of the health of the nation. Dr. Elchei is in the home office of the section of health, and one of his duties is to assist in the collection of information as to the prevalence of contagious diseases throughout the world.

This office gets authoritative information as to important diseases from all of Europe, from some parts of Africa, some parts of Asia and from most of South and Central America. Of course, there are sections about which nobody knows, but if there is any information anywhere, or even a first rate guess, the facts, such as they are, are passed on to the league office. It is the watch tower which scans in all parts of the world report the advance and retreats of the disease enemies of man.

Dr. Elchei's letter to Dr. Nicolai said that the United States ranked third in the nations of the world in the prevalence of smallpox. That is, this is its position. In the United States, the incidence of smallpox is the lowest. We seem destined in 1924 to take the palm from Russia. Last year they had more smallpox than we did. But this year we appear to be certain to outstrip our neighbor. Our long haired, wild eyed, and misanthropic crew monopolize the term "liberty" are proving a costly luxury. This is a republic, and we must have them. Let us give them a month, and then today say it all up again. Had six movements today. She does that every time I give her sugar. If I leave the sugar out, her bowels are perfect, and if I give it to her this is the result. What would you substitute? She has four teeth and two more are coming.

SUGAR SICKNESS BABY.
Mrs. V. A. writes: Kindly advise me about my 7 months old baby. She weighed 8 pounds at birth and now weighs only 10 1/2 pounds. She took the whooping cough when she was 4 months old, and still coughs a little. Is there anything I can do to rid her of the cough? She sits alone and tries to pull up once in a while. I am feeding her pasteurized milk with sugar and give her orange juice. Her bowels seem perfect. I have not given her any sugar at all for a month, and yesterday decided to try it again, and then today say it all up again. Had six movements today. She does that every time I give her sugar. If I leave the sugar out, her bowels are perfect, and if I give it to her this is the result. What would you substitute? She has four teeth and two more are coming.

REPLY.
I think your child is doing fairly well. She has taken two very bad colds and in spite of that is almost up to grade. Whooping cough at 4 months of age is a tragedy. All you can do now is to keep her in the outside world as much as possible. The milk she can use is the milk in her milk as a cure for her cough. She has an intolerance for sugar and that is the worst of her troubles right now.

All right—give her none. She is old enough to get all the carbohydrates she needs in the form of fruit. Sugar makes her cough worse. I predicted disaster for her. She has had a cold, thickened mucus, vegetables, well cooked and finely mashed, had bread and milk, and she is now getting better.

If you find that any kind of sugar disagrees with her, omit it from the diet. You can even get sugarless milk.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

Letters to this department must be signed with names and addresses of writers.

VISITING CANADIANS.
Chicago, Nov. 16.—[Friend of the People.]—Is there an immigration quota law or requirement between the United States and Canada, or is there any limit on the Canadians who are permitted to come here? If they come here and take no permanent residence? H. D.

There is no quota restriction upon the entry of Canadians into the United States. There is no limit to the number of Canadians who are permitted to enter the United States for permanent residence. It is necessary, however, that native Canadians apply to the nearest American consul and secure an immigration visa before applying for admission to the United States.

DILATORY TAILOR.
Chicago, Nov. 16.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—What can be done to a tailor who absolutely refuses to finish a suit? The matter was taken to him early in September and was promised in two weeks' time. Since the first fitting several weeks ago nothing has been done. The suit is now in the shop and he has promised to finish it in four different dates, but does nothing. The worry over this and laggers and in return the citizens, numbering 200, poured volleys after volleys into the garrison buildings. When the riotous crowd of most any college boy of today, had a few words to say regarding exercise. Mr. Jefferson was a firm believer in shooting as the best form of recreation and exercise. In this letter he said: "Let your gun be the constant companion of your walk."

Can it be possible that these young Chicago Democrats, who have been breaking into print so much of late, have been delving into the "History of the United States"?

THE BATTLESHIP TEXAS bombarded the doomed dreadnaught Washington in vain yesterday. Now they're going to bomb the poor thing from the air. The navy seems powerless to dispose of the Washington and we suggest that the job be turned over to some Chicago gun men. They'll shoot her so full of holes she'll sink in three minutes.

Probably a Typographical Error.
R. H. L.: In one of the press notices we have read that Michael Arlen is a Bulgarian, but after reading through The Green Hat we just wonder whether the compositor hasn't confused one of the letters in the above with a lower case "v."

May Heaven Protect Northwesterners.
R. H. L.: They tell me that Hockins hasn't said a word all week to pay up his team for today's game. Let the Northwestern side trot across the field wearing their hooded shirts, he expects his boys to be in the proper frame of mind for the kickoff.

DOC KROHN, the chief alienist for the state in the trial of Nathan and Dickie, has gone to Borneo to study the primitive people of the jungle. We wish that some of the defense experts would go to Borneo. But they would have to take the Wild Man of Borneo with them to have a teddy bear and that's a night when he went to bed he would say, "I'm moowoo slushy how wow gushoo gump hicken gloatin'" which means, "now, little teddy bear, go to sleep or I'll make you in the beam."

We'll Tell the World.
R. H. L.: Don't you pay any attention to what they say about your silhouette. You tell 'em the pose denotes meditation—deep thought—concentration. And it must have taken plenty of time to choose the quips for the Line Book.

BOOST?

They are going to open King Tut's tomb again. One thing we want distinctly understood: Bury us in no tomb.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

(Registered U. S. Patent Office.)

A FOREWORD.
R. H. L.: You and your readers seem interested in the old West and the men who made it, and so I am sending you some "Sketches from the Lazy B." These were not the wide haired, neckerchiefed and bedeviled outfit of Hollywood, but simple men whose faces showed the marks of sun, wind, and rain. Men who were hired to punch cattle at $40 a month. They did not wear woolly chaps and cowhide vests, but blue denim overalls generally long and turned up at the bottom. Slim had a derby hat that he wore Sundays.

They were a class of hard working, self-respecting men. They had a pride in themselves as workmen and in their work. They were loyal to the outfit they worked for, and when they could not respect their employer they drifted. The Spanish have a word "Caballero," which literally translated is "The man on horseback," in use the word means "Gentleman." The old time Cow-hand was a Caballero.

AN EGG weighing fourteen ounces was recently laid by an Oregon hen. Well, we know something about hens and eggs because we used to raise chickens, and we'll like to tell this Oregon hen right to her face that she didn't do anything of the kind.

And If You Put Mustard on 'Em You Won't Taste 'Em.

R. H. L.: An inquiry leveled at a clerk in a Rogers' meat grocery as to the probabilities of a particular head of lettuce containing much in the way of vitamins netted the customer the cheerful information that there might be a few on it, but it would be easy to wash them off.

Army Pants Should Be Brave.
R. H. L.: There were more than one trembling in his or her army pants Saturday last when a hidey-egger appeared on the scene with an up to date shotgun and threatened to shoot if the Prairie Club gang didn't get off his property instantly.

IT HAS been discovered that the Egyptians had pocket flasks four thousand years ago. Now if they had pocket flasks they must have had pants pockets to put the flasks in, and so they must have worn pants. It's wonderful how much we can find out about the ancient Egyptians if science only gives us a single clue.

FRUIT STORE IS CARELESS.
Chicago, Nov. 16.—[Friend of the People.]—The sidewalk in front of the fruit store in our block on West 15th street is always blocked with fruit and vegetable boxes and open garbage cans filled with rotten fruit. The children play around this and at times even handle this garbage. They also throw their garbage in boxes beside the building. This nuisance should be remedied.

Report is made by the superintendent of the Twenty-fourth ward that occupant of fruit store has been notified to keep sidewalk clear of boxes, provide receptacles for the accumulation of refuse, and keep sidewalk clean and free from boxes and refuse.

He Probably Likes Cake.
R. H. L.: Seem' as how you lost your Vangle, maybe I could lend you the loan of my goat. I ain't got no use for him here anyway. His name is Eleonore. I don't know why. But he's my goat and his name is Eleonore.

They Never Heard of It.
RHL: Thomas Jefferson, writing to a young man, laying out a program of study that would group the mental back of most any college boy of today, had a few words to say regarding exercise. Mr. Jefferson was a firm believer in shooting as the best form of recreation and exercise. In this letter he said: "Let your gun be the constant companion of your walk."

EMMA GOLDMAN BEGINS SCATHING EXPOSE OF REDS

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
Copyright, 1924, by The Chicago Tribune.
LONDON, Nov. 21.—Emma Goldman begins an exposure of the soviet government of Russia in an article in the Illustrated London News published tomorrow. After talking with the bolsheviks, she believed they were interested in the ideas of the Russian revolution. She goes on to tell what she found on her arrival in Russia.

Slavery of Labor.

"I found labor conscripted and driven to work like chattel slaves, arrested for the slightest infringement, and even shot for industrial desertion," Miss Goldman writes. "I found the peasants the helpless prey of punitive expeditions and forcible food collections—the proceeding of which devastated hundreds of villages and destroyed thousands of human lives."

"I found a sinister organization known as the cheka (secret service and execution) suppressing thought, the right to free speech, and the right to assemble—an organization which, according to the words of M. Dzerzhinsky, 'wields the power to undertake raids, confiscate goods, perform arrests, question, try, and condemn those whom we consider guilty, and inflict the death penalty.'"

No Freedom of Thought.

"I found the prison concentration camps overcrowded with men, women, and even children, not because they offered the army resistance, but for their opinion," I found Russia in wreck and ruin, presided over by a bureaucratic state, incompetent, and inefficient to reconstruct the country and to help the people restore their high hopes and great morals."

"It would be a betrayal of all I stood for in my life a breach of faith with the Russian people, as well as humanity everywhere, were I to keep silent after all I saw in Russia, all these harrowing things which continue to exist to the present day."

C. E. DUSTIN.

WOULD ELEVATE RAILWAY TRACKS WHERE 11 DIED

Ordinances requiring prompt elevation of the C. M. & St. P. railroad tracks on Kingsbury street will be submitted to the city council at its next meeting, it was decided yesterday by the council track elevation committee. The measures are the result of the grade crossing accident at Kingsbury street and North avenue a few weeks ago when a street car and a freight train collided, costing eleven lives.

The same ordinance will require the separation of grades at the crossings of the C. & G. W. railroad at Central and Austin avenues and of the Belt railroad at 26th street and Koster avenue. With the ordinance, Ald. George M. Maypole (28th) chairman of the committee, will offer the council a report of track elevation ordinances which have been ignored by many railroads, with recommendations that immediate action be taken to force compliance.

MORGAN TO LEND $100,000,000 TO FRANCE AT 7%

PARIS, Nov. 21.—[By the Associated Press.]—The senate and chamber of deputies tonight passed the loan bill under which $100,000,000 is to be advanced to France by American financial interests headed by J. P. Morgan & Co. The bill passed the chamber of deputies by a vote of 535 to 29. Only communists voted against the bill. In the senate the vote was unanimous—290 to 0.

The bill authorizes the borrowing of the $100,000,000 for a term of twenty-five years at 7 per cent interest. The issue price of the loan will be 94. The reasons given by the government for urgent need for prompt action on the bill were an effort to prevent speculation and a cable dispatch received from the Morgan interests saying the loan could be floated next Monday if parliament ratified the agreement today.

ROB. COUPLE OF $5,000 GEMS.
Two headless held up and robbed Mr. and Mrs. Gus Frank, 7310 Ordway avenue, at the corner of 67th street and Paxton avenue, last night. The headless took $50 in cash and a diamond bracelet valued at $5,000, but missed other jewels valued at $15,000. Mr. Frank is the owner of a down town women's clothing store.

MEXICO ALIGHT FOR INAUGURAL OF GEN. CALLES

Big American Delegation Will Attend.

BY JOHN CORNYN.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
Mexico City, Nov. 21.—Socialist, labor, and agrarian representatives and delegates of foreign governments and commercial and other interests are pouring into Mexico City for Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles' inauguration as president.

All the governments of South and Central America will be represented. A special entertainment is to be given representatives of the American labor organization, who will meet delegates of the labor centers of South and Central America.

Foreign correspondents from the United States, Spain, France, Belgium, England, and Canada, numerous magazine writers, half a dozen moving picture operators, and J. E. Henning, United States assistant secretary of labor, are here on their way to help Mexico celebrate the inauguration of the first president in the last fifty years to assume office by popular election and without special support.

All the political parties are anxious to iron out their differences, as Gen. Calles has no political compromises or obligations. A prominent Calles leader said today:

"Gen. Calles will try to unite the political parties, interest the masses in the eradication of illiteracy, improvement of labor conditions, implantation of a national system of public education, moralization of the government officials, and improvement in the political, social, commercial, and industrial conditions."

Charity Shares in the Estate of W. L. Robinson

Requests to Chicago charities by William L. Robinson, late head of the Robinson Coal company, were revealed yesterday when Mr. Robinson's will was filed for probate. The Salvation Army, the Old People's home, and the Home for Incapacitated were bequeathed $2,500 each. The Woman's Shelter was given $1,000, and the Volunteers of America received a three-story brick building at 3205 Lake Park avenue. Eighteen nieces and nephews will share in the estate, valued at $165,000.

BABY SMOTHERED BY BLANKETS.
The 5 day old child of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Schmitt, 434 Steel street, was found dead in its crib yesterday. The child had been smothered by heavy blankets.

RUSSIA JAILS DRUG VENDORS; TAKES PROPERTY

Dope Fiends Forced to Do Hard Labor.

MOSCOW, Nov. 21.—[By the Associated Press.]—Although soviet Russia recently declined to join the league of nations' opium commission, the soviet authorities today promulgated severe measures for the suppression of the illicit drug traffic.

Any person convicted of selling narcotics will not only be imprisoned, or deported for a long period, but all his property will be confiscated and the offender deprived of citizenship.

Consumers of forbidden drugs will be dealt with only a little less severely than vendors. They will be quarantined in special anti-narcotic institutions at hard labor and released only upon a certificate from a physician.

Even Children Get Drug Habit.

The opium and cocaine habits have been growing at such a disturbing rate in Russia, even among children, that the soviet authorities have decided to establish an anti-narcotic hospital in Moscow for boys and girls, also ten dispensaries for adults where American and other methods of curing the drug craving will be adopted.

Several opium dens and cocaine haunts were recently raided by the Moscow police and large numbers of arrests made. In one of these reports, more than forty persons, including seventeen women and several minors, were found.

In discussing the narcotic habit, which has grown in inverse proportion to the suppression of the liquor traffic, Dr. Peter Scholomovitch, chief of the narcotic section of the soviet health department, blamed Germany "for this European calamity, as the German manufacturers of narcotics strive by every means to supply cocaine and other narcotics to the world markets."

U. S. Opium Plan Curbed.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
GENEVA, Nov. 21.—The United States plan for suppression of opium was beaten by a vote of eight to four in the steering committee of the international opium conference this evening.

The American delegates, after three hours' discussion, decided, however, not to withdraw from the conference, although many of them felt that the committee's action has made it innocuous.

The American delegate, Congressman Stephen G. Porter, advocated the widest scope for the conference with the aim of stamping out the drug traffic by rigorously controlling the production of opium, poppies and coca leaves, strict supervision over the manufacture of their derivatives, morphine, heroin, and cocaine, and vigorous repression of permits for imports and exports of drugs.

The committee decided that much of the American plan was outside the agenda and, therefore, could not come before the conference.

PLAN $400,000 APARTMENTS AT KEDZIE-AINSLIE

BY AL CHASE.

Carl Thorgersen and Hans C. Erickson have bought the southeast corner of Kedzie and Ainslie, 181x125, from Nelson Thomasson for an indicated $75,000, and are having plans drawn by Architect Axel V. Telsen for a $400,000 eighty apartment building.

Harry Berger has sold the southwest corner of Monroe and Leamington, improved with twenty-five flats, to Philip Abramowitz and others for a reported $131,000, subject to $54,000. The sellers took in part payment six stories at 3611 Indiana and 2669 Indiana at $70,000, subject to $20,000. Charles B. Goodman and Ruskberg & Burr were attorneys.

Has Another Realty Mystery.

Mr. Stevens' $20,000,000 hotel crowded out of this column yesterday a story we wrote about a new reality mystery. It is stated that the poultry interests of South Water street have been acquiring the four blocks of frontage along 15th, between Morgan and Racine, and have engaged a New York architect to design a group of three story buildings.

No one seems willing to confirm this rumor, but it's a fact that considerable property has changed hands on 15th between Morgan and Racine.

The three stories and eight flats at 7643 Cottage Grove, lot 5x125, have been sold by Le Roy F. Harris to Frederick J. Kerrie for a reported $90,000, subject to $40,000, through Warren A. Cahn.

Galt Avenue Deal.

A reported $180,000 was paid by Lee A. Snyder to Louis Fishman for the twenty six flats at 335-43 Galt avenue. Mr. Snyder gave in exchange the two stores and four flats at 241-43 North Wells and the nine apartments at the northwest corner of Leland and Sawyer, at $91,000.

A. H. Love of the Love-Starr Realty company, was broker.

The twelve apartments at 4425 Winthrop have been sold by Emilie Jensen to Emerich R. Schwarz for a reported $66,000, subject to $24,000. R. Keogh and J. G. Squires of J. F. Cornelius & Co., were brokers.

REDUCE FREIGHT RATES, BUT NOT WAGES; COOLIDGE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—President Coolidge feels that if a reduction of freight rates is made at this time it should be accomplished through reduction in operating costs rather than at the expense of wages of railroad employees.

Present conditions, in the opinion of the President, do not warrant a reduction in railroad wages, whereas he does believe sufficient economies can be made in operating expenses to permit a reduction in freight rates, if such is found feasible.

ILLINOIS DEANS OF WOMEN TO CONVENE TODAY

Bloomington School Is Host to Sessions.

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—The fifth annual meeting of the Illinois Association of Deans of Women will open here in Kemp hall, Illinois Wesleyan university, tomorrow morning.

Opening the program, President William J. Davidson of Wesleyan will give an address of welcome. Dr. Herman N. Adler, director of the institute for juvenile research of Chicago, will talk on mental problems of child life, and then committees will give their reports.

Open Meeting in Afternoon.

Luncheon is to be served at 12:30 at Kemp hall. The afternoon session will start at 2 in Buck Memorial library. The program of talks is open to all members of parent-teacher associations and any one active or interested in work of an advisory character with Illinois girls or women.

Dr. A. C. Pierrel, head of the department of religious education at Wesleyan university, will give an address on Currents and Under-Currents in College Life. Dr. Pierrel has had years of contact with young college folk.

Northwestern Dean to Speak.

Dean Mary Ross Porter of Northwestern university will give the second talk of the afternoon on "Interests Common to Parents and Teachers."

The convention of the deans association is yearly gaining in importance, its members believe. They point to the growing need for trained and sympathetic women who can give full time to the guidance of thousands of girls in secondary schools. In some larger city schools such deans have been appointed, but officers of the association say that in many schools of smaller towns the need of a properly placed dean of women is still overlooked.

JURY PICKED TO TRY 4 YOUTHS FOR SLAYING

The jury to try Anna Valanis, her brother, Anthony; Lucille Marshall, and William D. Lydon for the killing of Brenda Caviness, was completed before Chief Justice Jacob H. Hopkins in Criminal court late yesterday. The opening statement of the prosecution will be made this morning by Assistant State's Attorney Michael Romano and the presentation of evidence will be begun shortly after. Young Lydon's mother swooned when the jury was sworn, but quickly recovered and left the courtroom.

Yellow Cab

Is logically the cab for you

Have you kept track of the cab companies which have operated in this city from time to time—do you know how many have appeared and disappeared in the last ten years?

Do you know how many have operated for a short time and have then gone out of business, leaving behind them a string of unpaid claims for damages and merchandise?

You are aware, doubtless, that any 5 men can form a cab company and operate it without any backing—that they can buy cabs on the installment plan and have nothing on which a court can levy to satisfy a judgment.

The reason we bring up the subject is because transportation is a serious business. Any concern entrusted with the lives and limbs of the people should be morally and financially sound. It should have the means to provide proper equipment, proper system and proper protection.

Any man can establish a store or a bank, or be a lawyer or a doctor, but you will not patronize him unless you know he is competent and decent and reliable. Why should there be any difference in the cab business?

Yellow Cab is morally and financially sound. It is the most successful cab company in the world. Isn't that the cab for you and the members of your family?

To launch the holiday season! Misses' Paris frocks of beaded georgette crepe

When dainty Miss Home-from-college dines, dances and entertains during the holidays, one of these enchanting French frocks will lend just the gay touch so conducive to smart festivity.

Flame, peach, jade, powder blue $55 Salmon, maize, coral and white

The svelte charm of the straight silhouette is scintillatingly emphasized by elaborate and exquisite beading, in designs both new and intricate. When so many social functions crowd the calendar, it will be reassuring to know that just the right gown—and a Paris model at that—hangs, all ready to wear, in the wardrobe.

In the history of navigation have been but two feats which stand side by side for all time. The first was the circumnavigation of the globe by sea; the second the navigation of the world by air. But, if so, it was before the recorded history, and we know them.

Four hundred years ago a Spanish navigator in the name of Charles V. of Spain sailed to explore the seven seas. One of thirty-one survivors returned.

Ferdinand Magellan sleeps in the tomb of his fame as the first navigator to circumnavigate the globe by sea, and follow mariners himself and follow mariners both Portugal and Spain.

Magellan of the Age of Discovery. We of the present day have seen Magellan's feat paralleled and surpassed. If the great Portuguese navigator deserved immortality, so do the American world flyers.

Magellan set forth in 1499, and from those which he sailed by his own hand for three years. He sailed across the Pacific Ocean, and he sailed across the Pacific Ocean.

But Commander Lowell Thomas, his fellow Magellan of the world of today, has sailed across the world of today, and he has sailed across the world of today.

Explorers Make Nations Great. Every nation that has played a part in history has been a great nation, and we know that the great nations of the world have been the great nations of the world.

We remember how the great explorers of the world have been the great explorers of the world, and we know that the great explorers of the world have been the great explorers of the world.
